

Table of Contents

Executive summary	5
Introduction	13
Section I: A balanced economy? Women and men in positions of influence	17
1. Banking and finance – a very male crisis?	19
1.1. EU central banks still have no women governors but the number of women in key positions is improving	19
1.2. Why so few senior women in the finance sector?	20
1.3. After the crisis – an opportunity for change	21
2. Diversity in the boardroom	22
2.1. Women in blue chip companies – progress is too slow	22
2.2. Does size matter?	23
2.3. More women entrepreneurs are needed – men are twice as likely to start their own business	24
3. Science, research and development – time to plug the leaky pipe	26
3.1. The current situation of women in science	26
3.2. Addressing the gender imbalance in science and research	28
3.3. The ICT sector needs to attract more women	29
4. Representing the interests of businesses and their workers	30
4.1. Chambers of Commerce and Industry	30
4.2. Social partners	30
Section II: Improving the gender balance in senior positions	33
1. What are the barriers that women face in getting to the top?	35
2. What are companies doing to promote gender equality?	36
3. Role models – an inspiration for the next generation of women leaders	37
4. Mentoring – supporting the professional development of women in business	40
5. Networks – forums for mutual advancement	43
6. Gender quotas for boardrooms – a quick fix?	44
Section III: Political decision-making – who speaks for the citizens?	47
1. Progress towards gender balanced parliaments	48
1.1. Best ever gender balance in the European Parliament	48
1.2. Another male president but more women vice-presidents	50
1.3. Women are gaining voice within the workings of the European Parliament	50
1.4. Little change in the gender composition of national parliaments	51
1.5. Longer-term analysis suggests that the rate of change is slowing	52
2. National governments and the European Commission: edging closer to critical mass	53
2.1. Political power at European level – the Commission and high level appointments	54
2.2. National governments – the long-term trend towards balanced participation is positive	54
2.3. Though recent development are more mixed	55
2.4. A persistent trend to limit women ministers to certain portfolios	56

Section IV: Public administration and the judiciary.....	59
1. Gender balance amongst senior administrators at national and European level.....	60
1.1. Senior civil servants – men outnumber women by at least two to one in most countries.....	60
1.2. Ministries with socio-cultural function have a better gender balance.....	61
1.3. European civil servants – too few women at the top, but the service of the European Parliament sets a good example.....	63
1.4. European Community agencies.....	64
2. Women and men in top levels of the judiciary.....	65
Appendix.....	67

List of figures

1	Women and men in the highest decision-making bodies of central banks, 2009.....	20
2	Gender balance amongst board members of the largest publicly listed companies, 2009.....	23
3	Self-employed persons by gender, 2008.....	24
4	The proportion of men and women at different stages of a career in science and technology, 2006.....	27
5	Nobel prize winners since 1901 by gender.....	29
6	Gender balance in the European Parliament, 1979-2009.....	49
7	Share of women in national parliaments (single/lower house) and in the European parliament, 2009.....	49
8	Distribution of women and men members of political groups of the European Parliament, 2009.....	50
9	Gender balance in the committees of the European Parliament, 2009.....	51
10	Gender composition of national parliaments (lower and upper houses combined), 2009.....	52
11	Changes in the share of women in national parliaments (single/lower house), 1997-2009.....	53
12	Women and men in national governments (senior and junior ministers), 2009.....	55
13	Gender balance amongst the highest ranking civil servants in national administrations, 2009.....	61
14	Distribution of women and men in the different grades of the European Civil Service, 2009.....	63
15	Senior officials in the three main European institutions by gender, 2009.....	64
16	Gender balance on the decision-making bodies of European Community Agencies, 2009.....	65
17	Judges of supreme courts by gender, 2009.....	66

List of tables

1	Representation of women on company boards by size of company in the Netherlands, 2005 ..	24
2	Company initiatives to promote the integration of women.....	37
3	First women in ministerial positions in the Ministry of Finance/Economy or similar.....	57
4	Proportion of women amongst senior civil servants (top two levels) by BEIS type, 2009.....	62